Music through time

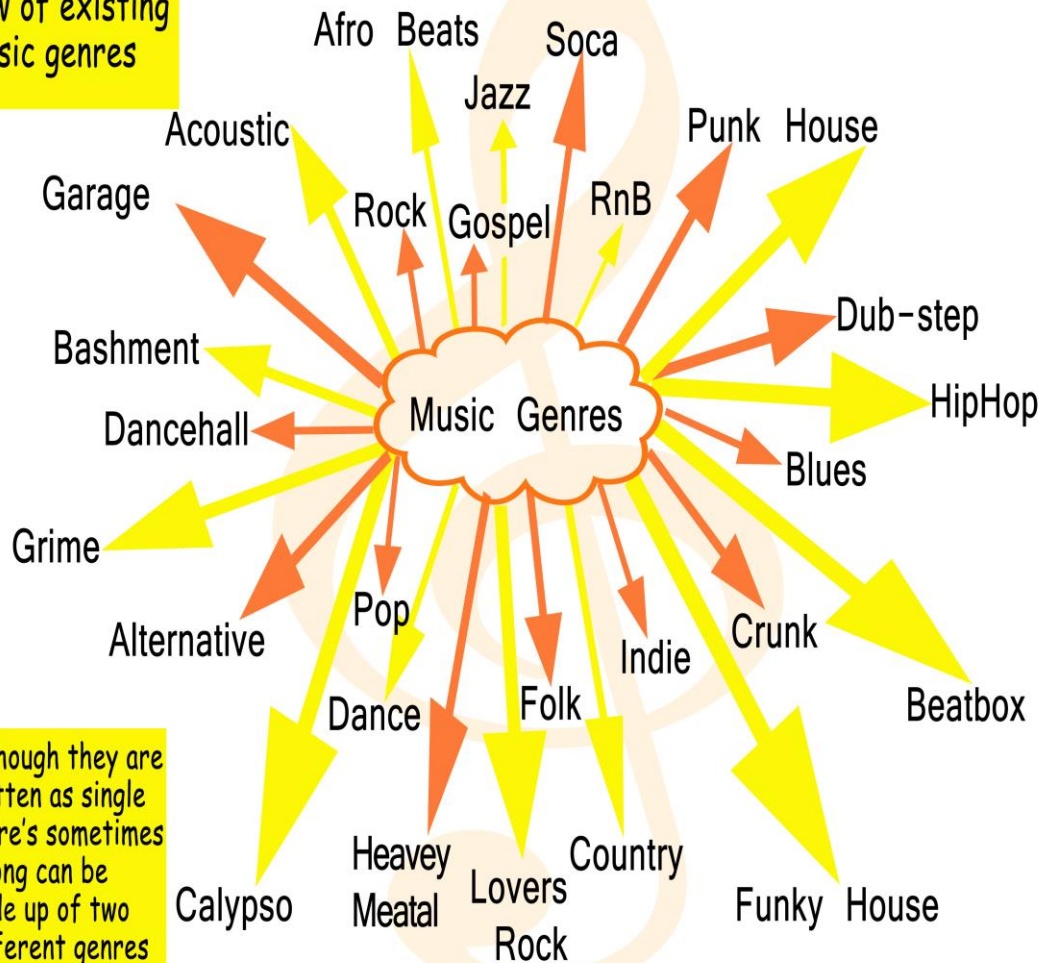

Music is very, very old!

Music from the different time periods has aspects about it that make it identifiable. You will learn to recognize these and will listen to music from these different time periods.

Musical genres

Here are a few of existing music genres

Although they are written as single genre's sometimes a song can be made up of two different genres e.g. pop rock

As well as being categorised by time periods, music is also placed into different genres.

We all have different tastes in music, some of us like Country music some like Grime etc.

Music doesn't always have to fall into 1 genre, sometimes a song can be made up of 2 or more different genres, this is called a fusion!

Composers

Throughout the musical timeline there have been some very influential composers.

People like Beethoven and Mozart who have made great impacts on how music developed.

One of the most famous 20th century composers is the film music composer John Williams!

Williams is well known for composing the music for Star wars, Indiana Jones, Jurassic park and of course Harry Potter!
