

THE BOLSOVER SCHOOL

Nothing but the best

Independent Study Strategies

Learning Intentions:

Success Criteria:

- ✓ To understand the concepts working memory and long term memory.
- ✓ To explore ways to embed content, make it meaningful and build on knowledge.
- ✓ To independently practice revision tasks that enable knowledge to be stored in the long term memory.

DO NOW: Stop and Jot

One way I revise is...

A way to revise that is effective is...

The benefits of revising are...

-
- Working Memory
 - Long-term memory

Summarise the information in your booklets in 50 words.

How can information be stored in the long term memory?

- Embed the content
- Make it meaningful and useful
- Grow, extend and build on the knowledge

Embed the content

- Reduce
- Transform
- Deconstruct
- Derive

Transform the word
hamartia into a picture. Link it to Macbeth.

Explain how your image links to the word in purple pen.

I do, we do, you do

Geography – Transform the word erosion into a picture.

Think about the 4 types.

History – Transform the term feudal system into a picture.

Think about the 4 types.

Explain how your image links to the word in purple pen.

I do, we do, you do

Transform the last piece of work you did into a picture.

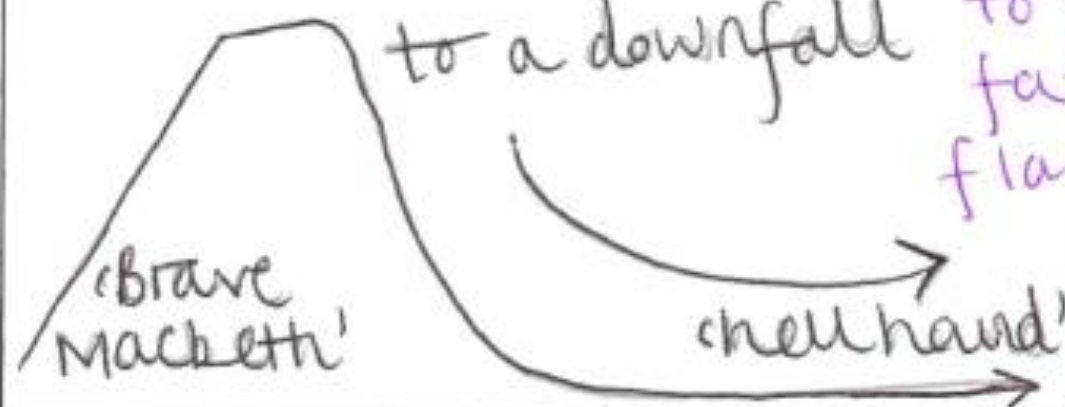

Transform it = Hamartia =

'but only vaulting ambition'

After receiving the prophecies from the witches, this leads to Macbeth's fatal flaw.

Making it meaningful and useful

- Prioritise
- Categorise
- Criticise
- Trends and patterns
- Practice

Read the information.

Derive it.

What is the most important part and why?

I do, we do, you do

Dickens experienced prison and poverty in his own childhood. In 1824, London, John Dickens was locked in Marshalsea debtor's prison for failing to pay his debts. His son, Charles, aged 11, was sent away to a blacking factory, covering and labelling pots of shoe polish in appalling conditions as well as loneliness and despair. He lived separated from his family, as his younger sister and mother were put in prison with his father. Later, he wrote in a letter with horror: 'No words can describe the secret agony of my soul as I sank into this companionship.... The sense I had of being utterly neglected and hopeless, fired with grief and humiliation, my lonely vulnerability, my hungry misery, and the knowledge they had willingly put me in this situation. I could not bear to think of myself beyond reach of any honourable success.' After three years he was returned to school, but the experience was never forgotten. Dickens lived just nine doors down from the workhouse until 1831, when he was 19 years old.

Prioritise
it

Out of today's lesson, what was the most important thing you've learnt and why?

Derive it

In my opinion, the most important part is the mention of Dickens living near the workhouse. Charles Dickens obviously knew the realities of living in such a terrible place. As a reader, we can understand why he was criticising those with a Malthusian attitude and a key theme is kindness to others.

Grow, extend and build on knowledge

- Make connections
- Compare
- Extend
- Create

Connect It

Look at the words relating to An Inspector Calls.

Connect four words to each other.

Explain how they connect.

I do, we do, you do

Capitalism

Microcosm

Patriarchy

Prejudiced

Privilege

Remorse

Reputation

Responsibility

Socialism

Class

Moral

Hubris

Individualist

Misogynistic

Hierarchy

Narcissist

Connect it

Write down 4 key words from today's lesson.

Connect them to each other using lines and say why they connect along the line.

Connect it

patriarchy - prejudice - remorse

Eva Smith suffers from prejudice due to the patriarchal society she lives in. The construct of Eric at the end feels remorse and says 'we all helped to kill her'. Priestley wrote this to highlight responsibility over reputation.

Reputation.

Stop and Jot – Improvement Paragraph

One way I will revise

Memory is important because...

The benefits of revising are...